Transitions

There is a place where the sidewalk ends
And before the street begins,
And there the grass grows soft and white,
And there the sun burns crimson bright,
And there the moon-bird rests from his flight
To cool in the peppermint wind.

Let us leave this place where the smoke blows black
And the dark street winds and bends.
Past the pits where the asphalt flowers grow
We shall walk with a walk that is measured and slow,
And watch where the chalk-white arrows go
To the place where the sidewalk ends.

Yes we'll walk with a walk that is measured and
slow,
And we'll go where the chalk-white arrows go,
For the children, they mark, and the children,
they know
The place where the sidewalk ends.

Where the Sidewalk Ends by Shel Silverstein

President Laura

Carpenter Bingham

President Laura Carpenter Bingham,

The Peace College community and your fellow Peace sisters want to wish you the best as you transition into a new chapter of your life. As we look back over the years, we would like to highlight some of what you have given to our community and to our sisterhood. Since 1998, thousands of women have walked through the doors of Main under your leadership. They have come in with high hopes and ambitions for their futures; they have left with more than they could have ever hoped for. Students have used the words inspiring, warm, role model, visionary, passionate, dedicated, and committed when describing your influence in our lives.

You have instilled these same characteristics, as well as many more, in us. Women leave Peace with an astounding education and the skill set to make the world a better place. Your leadership transcends far beyond the realm of words. Your presence is clearly visible during many of the events that breathe life into our community. From Pathways orientation to Alumnae weekend, you have been there. You have laughed, cried, sang, and danced with us along our journey at Peace. You have led, inspired, strategized, and pushed through to greater heights with the faculty and staff.

Your accomplishments have been praised in publications, letters, and the media. However, the true accolades will reside in all of our hearts and in our actions. You will be missed. You are, as you once stated, "a golden nugget in the treasure box of life." We know that there are new, bright successes in your future.

Thank you...

Commencement

Former NC Supreme Court Justice Willis Wilchard was Peace College's 138th Commencement Speaker. In his speech, he reminded the graduates that they did not have to wait until they began their careers to make a difference in this world.
